Reforms never go backwards, even Dodge City, Kansas, is moving to suppress the dance halls and the dram shops, and judging from the Dodge City Times the move will be successful. Prohibition is everywhere winning in Kansas. The Supreme Court of the state has recently given the cause of the home, vs. the saloon, a big beom, by ousting from office a prosecuting attorney for refusing to prosecute whisky sellers. The court has issued its writs restraining the city of Topeka from licensing dramshops under the evasive pretense of monthly fines, or any other pretense. Slowly but surely the whisky annaconda is being choked to death. -Warrensburg (Mo.) Standard.

The city election would indicate that How doth whisky, gambling and the the people of Dodge were not ready for reform. The principle of reform must be cultivated it seems. There will be an enward move towards reform, the back-set of Monday not having shaken
